Fred Ashley (Stage Manager) (r.) shakes up a soda for Dan Wawryzniak (George Gibbs) and Juanita Baugh (Emily Webb) in a scene from "Our Town." The play will be presented at Huron Playhouse July 12-16.

Ashley, Baugh And Wawryzniak To Star In Huron Production

"Our Town" will be presented as the second production of the Huron Playhouse from July 12 to 16. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

The play was written by Thornton Wilder, and is one of the truly great plays of modern times. It was written during the late 30's, and is one of the two plays Wilder has done. The other was "Skin of Our Teeth," which was presented at the Playhouse in earlier seasons.

The story is unconventional. The play is performed on a practically bare stage, without any props. The only furniture used are two ladders, a couple of stools, and chairs with a board placed across them. The curtain never opens or closes—it is open when the audience is seated and what moving of furniture there is done in front of the audience.

Fred Ashley Is Stage Manager

The Stage Manager sets the scene with his dialogue. Fred Ashley has this part. He played Felix Ducotel in "My Three Angels," and Mr. Hillary in "Angel in a Pawnshop," at BG last year. It is his first season at the Playhouse. He's also had parts in "Lilliom," "Goodbye My Fancy," "On Our Way," "Richard III," and "A Midsummer Night's Dream." He will be a junior next year at BG and is from Geneva.

Emily Webb will be played by Juanita Baugh. Emily is the one that the play revolves about, although she is not a heroine in the melodramatic sense. Juanita had leading roles in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," last year, and "Lilliom," the year before. It is her first year at Huron; she will be a senior at BG next year. She is from Toledo.

Dan Wawryzniak is George Gibbs, who eventually marries Emily. Danny was Stanley Kowalski in "Streetcar Named Desire," Lysander in "Midsummer," and also had parts in "Richard III," "On Our Way," "Lilliom," "Peer Gynt," and "Mad Woman of Chaliot." It is his first season here; he will be a senior at BG next year; and he is from Euclid.

About the play—the first act shows daily life in Grover's Corners, N.H., in 1901. The second shows love and marriage; the third, death. The play is well-known. It was done on campus in the summer of 1953.

Two families are involved—the Webbs and the Gibbs. Dr. Gibbs will be played by James Shaffer, from Leetonia; Mrs. Gibbs, by Sally Kilmer (just graduated from BG, with major in music); Mr. Webb, by Gene Rucker, (who will be a junior next year); and Mrs. Webb by Leah Newey, from Niles, a senior next year at Baldwin Wallace. There are 26 persons in the play.

MRS. McDONALD IMPROVES

Mrs. Ralph W. McDonald is reported to be improved in St. Mary's Hospital, Russellville, Ark., where she became ill while she and Dr. McDonald were visiting relatives.

160 Graduates Teach In Ohio

Approximately 50 per cent of the 1955 Bowling Green graduates in the College of Education have reported to the University their teaching appointments for the '55-'56 school year.

Of the 231 graduates in education, 102 have signed contracts to teach elementary education in Ohio. Fifty-eight more of the graduates will be teaching secondary education.

Bowling Green graduates have also signed contracts to teach in Maine, Wisconsin, Illinois, North Carolina, Michigan, California, and Oregon. Excluding Ohio, the greatest number of 1955 graduates will be teaching in Michigan. Within Ohio, more Bowling Green graduates will be teaching in Cleveland than in any other city.

$500 Scholarship To Celia Lalonde

A $500 scholarship from her national social sorority has been awarded Celia Lalonde, Bowling Green State University geology major. The award is part of the Friendship Award program of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, and was announced at the recent national convention of the organization at Swampscott, Mass.

Miss Lalonde, whose home is at Amherst, is a junior, and was selected because of an excellent academic record and the promise shown for a successful career in her chosen field, it was pointed out. In addition to her academic proficiency, she has been active in campus events, including choice in an all-campus election as attendant to the University May Queen.

She has been vice-president of the Newman Club, chairman of the Newman Club's committee for Religious Emphasis Week, served on the staff of "Inter-Science Newsletter" and is a member of the Geology Club.

Slow Learners, Arithmetic Get BGSU Workshop Attention Now

Anna M. Engle

One workshop began Tuesday, and another will start next Monday, in the series of special short courses sponsored as a part of the Bowling Green State University summer session, Dr. Ralph G. Harshman, director, has announced.

The course now being conducted is on the teaching of arithmetic, and has been limited to an enrollment of 50. Conducted for a three-week period, it is in charge of Dr. Harold E. Moser, director of test services of State Teachers College, Towson, Md.

Each participant is to work out some practical problem associated with the teaching of arithmetic during the three-week period under his direction.

State Department of Education supervisors will combine their talents with those of Miss Anna M. Engle, widely-known consultant and specialist, in a workshop for the slow-learning child, which will begin Monday.

May Accept A Few More Students

Limited to 60 persons, Dean Harshman's office reported almost that number already enrolled this week. A few more may still be accepted, he said.

Miss Engle has been consultant for the Detroit Association for Retarded Children, is a fellow of the American Association on Mental Deficiency, and before her retirement was supervisor of special classes and director of the Detroit

Mass Spectrometer Gift Of Du Pont

A mass spectrometer valued at several thousand dollars has recently been given to the Chemistry Department by the Atomic Energy Commission through the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Co., operator of the Dana Plant of the Atomic Energy Commission in Indiana.

The spectrometer will provide valuable experience in the study of high vacuum and electronic operations. It was obtained through the assistance of the Ohio State Department of Education, the agency responsible for surplus property acquisition by schools and colleges of the state. The Chemistry Department received one of the five instruments available for a ten-state area, Dr. W. H. Hall, chemistry professor, said.

Grads On 'Parade' Now Tour Canada

Two alumni and a senior from Bowling Green State University are now traveling with General Motors' "Parade of Progress," on a tour which will take them, by the end of the summer, across Canada.

James Turner, who received his bachelor's degree in journalism in May, and John Newman, who will receive his degree in journalism next February, joined the Parade at Windsor, Canada, in June. Ed Wheelde, who received his degree in journalism last winter, joined the Parade immediately after graduation.

University Will Celebrate, Too

Bowling Green State University will join with business men and other groups the week of July 20 to observe Bowling Green's 100th anniversary as an incorporated town.

The University's participation will include conducted tours for the public of spots on the campus, from 7 to 9 o'clock, Thursday, July 21, and a display at Gillispie Plumbing and Heating Co., 140 North Main St.

Committee Chosen

A committee which included representatives from each of the three undergraduate colleges and the administrative staff, met last week to draw up plans for participation. The committee included Dr. Raymond W. Derr, substituting for Harold Van Winkle as chairman; Richard Barnes, substituting for Dr. Ralph E. Geer, Dr. Paul Leedy, F. Eugene Beatty, Dr. Willard Singer, Dr. Russell Decker, and W. C. Jordan, substituting for Charles Young.

The University has been assigned to the "large industries" group, and these firms, including H. J. Heinz, Luggbill Provision Co., Cain Potato Chips, Greider Industries, Daybrook, Royal Manufacturing Co., Ohio State Highway Commission, and probably others, will either have displays or open house during the week, or both, it was said.

The Sentinel-Tribune will issue a total of 14,000 copies for the special observance, sending papers into every home in Wood County, it was pointed out.

Audrey Paul and Ralph Nielsen will be featured in the familiar love songs and duets of "Carmen" and "Don Jose" in the Opera "Carmen" tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. in the Main Aud.

Also appearing with the two singers will be the Marlinn String Trio to furnish the accompaniment.

This is the first of two summer Artist Series sponsored by the University.

In Our Opinion

Let's Stay Alive

The July Fourth weekend was not a pleasant one for all, because the nation again turned a milestone when adding up the grim score of fatal highway accidents. The total figures show that about 400 lost their lives in the nation's number one holiday killer. This is more than the previous three-day July Fourth week end in 1952.

What the statistics do not reveal is the hundreds who will not talk, see or use all their limbs again. With these added to the figures, we can sigh with relief that we took the extra five minutes to get back to Bowling Green.

At first glance most of these accidents would seem to be by mechanical and engineering faults in the autos, but a study of the 1954 accident scene shows that excessive speed, failure to grant the right of way, and driving on the wrong side of the road constitute 75 per cent of the accidents resulting in death and injury.

As the percentages are probably not substantially different this year we well know that no matter how good the road or how mechanically perfect the car, it is we the drivers who can improve the accident picture by simple highway courtesy and carefulness.

Let us keep in mind that in trying to squeeze that extra speed out of our cars, or squeezing through tight traffic, we might at the same time squeeze our remaining lifetime into a few minutes.

Two Of Every Three Veterans On Campus Are Married; Total Is 189

Of the 189 veterans enrolled in the first term of the BGSU summer session, 128 are married, according to figures released this week by Dr. Ralph H. Geer, veterans counselor. Two women are registered under the GI program.

Only 13 are enrolled under Public Law 346, which covered veterans of the Second World War; two are enrolled under the provisions for disabled veterans.

A total of 174 are registered under Public Law 550, the GI provision for Korean veterans.

The enrollment is predominately among the upper classes, and the graduate school leads with 50. Seniors have 44, juniors 35, sophomores 38, and 22 are freshmen. As to colleges, the students have indicated business administration as their choice in 80 cases, 36 are in education, and 23 are in liberal arts.

'Sidewalks Of New York' First Huron Production

Tonight, through Saturday night will be the final performances of Huron Playhouse's opening play, "The Sidewalks of New York." Opening the seventh season at Huron, the play takes its audience back to the days of a by-gone era when melodrama and pathetic tear-shedding were standard fare in the theaters of the gay '90s. Curtain time is 8 o'clock, EST.

Interspersed between scenes will be a series of six olio acts—dances, songs, and comedy routines—reminiscent of vaudeville in the Gay '90's.

Tampio's Second Season

Vince Tampio, Fredonia, N.Y., plays the villainous banker, Gideon Bloodgood, who steals $100,000 from a dying sea captain and finds a fortune with his ill-gotten gains. This is Tampio's second season at the Playhouse. Last year he was Mr. Hossefrosse in "The Torchbearers," and also had major roles in "Ten Nights in a Barroom," and "The Princess Who Wouldn't Laugh."

Carol Liedtke, Fennimore, Wis., has the part of the heroine, Lucy. This is her third summer at the Playhouse. She starred as Eliza Doolittle in "Pygmalion," Helen Pettigrew in "Berkley Square," and Nellie Fell in "The Torchbearers," last year. Her handsome leading man in "Streets of New York" is James Shaffer, from Leetonia, a newcomer to Playhouse ranks. He has had previous acting experience on station WKBN-TV, Youngstown, and was active in the Youngstown Players and Canfield Players.

The melodrama is full of the noble statements and pathetic tear shedding that characterized the plays of the nineteenth century. The play was written by Dion Boucicault, an Irishman, who won fame not only as a playwright, but also as an accomplished actor and producer.

Fire And Snowstorm Involved

Staging the play involves a snowstorm and a spectacular tenement fire on stage. Wing and drop settings, authentically styled by John H. Hepler, technical director, will create the nineteenth century mood. Acting will also be done in the style of the period, using asides to the audience and speaking the lines and moving on stage in an exaggerated manner, as the actors did in that era.

Most of the action of the play takes place in the midst of the financial crisis of 1857, when the sea captain's family, destitute and starving, are roaming the streets of New York in search of some means of livelihood. The love story between the hero and the heroine is also entangled because of Bloodgood's efforts to marry off his daughter Alida, played by Betty Beall, Tiffin. The whole play is saved with the usual surprise ending provided by Bloodgood's clerk,

Perry Has Five Assistant Coaches To Aid Him In MAC Title Fight

Starting his first season as gridiron coach at Bowling Green State University, Doyt Perry '32, former Ohio State University backfield coach and Bowling Green graduate, will be assisted by one of the youngest football coaching staffs in the University's history. The six-man coaching staff has an average age of about 33 years.

The five assistant coaches are: Bruce Ballard, end coach; Forrest Creason, freshman coach; Robert Dudley, backfield coach; Edward (Bo) Schembechler, interior line coach; and William Gunlock, defensive coach. Dudley, Schembechler and Gunlock are recent additions to the coaching staff and are starting their first season at Bowling Green.

Perry, who has been backfield coach for the Big Ten and Rose Bowl champion for the past four years, has coached such great stars as Howard "Hopalong" Cassidy, Dave Leggett, Bobby Watkins, Fred Bruney and Johnny Borton. The new head coach was an outstanding student and athlete in his undergraduate years at Bowling Green. He was a nine-letter winner at the University and quarterbacked the Falcons for three years. He was also on the basketball and baseball squads for three years.

Ballard Coaches Ends

Ballard joined the Bowling Green staff as a graduate assistant in 1948 and worked with the varsity line. In 1949, he became the freshman coach and was in that position until 1951, when he again was moved to the varsity staff. In 1946-47 he was an outstanding guard on the Falcon squad and was mentioned in all-Ohio selections. Besides his duties as end coach, Ballard instructs driver education and health education courses.

Creason joined the University's football staff as freshman coach in 1951. Before that, he was the head coach at Bowling Green High School and during his six years there he won several Buckeye League championships with his football and track squads. Creason graduated from Findlay College where he was a four-year letterman in football and track and, was an all-Ohio Conference end in 1937. Besides his football duties, Creason is a University admissions counselor and assistant professor in health and physical education.

Dudley, the latest appointment to the football staff, has for the past six years been the head basketball coach at Grandview High School where he won two Central Buckeye League championships with his basketball squads. For the past two years he has also been the head football coach at Grandview. Dudley is a graduate of Ohio State University and during his undergraduate years there he received two letters for varsity baseball. Along with football he will also be an instructor in health and physical education.

Miami Star Added

Schembechler, the new interior line coach, was a former Barberton High School and Miami University gridiron star. He was an offensive tackle on the 1949-50 Miami teams under Ohio State's Woody Hayes when the Buckeye coach led the Redskins to the post-season Salad Bowl.

Besides his gridiron awards at Miami, Schembechler was a standout southpaw pitcher on the baseball team, losing only two games in his three-year diamond career. In 1951 and 1952, while taking graduate work at Ohio State University, Schembechler worked on the Buckeye staff.

Gunlock was the assistant football coach at Heidelberg College before joining the Bowling Green football staff. He was a teammate of Schembechler at Miami University under Woody Hayes and was a three-year letterman and an all-Ohio guard in his senior year there. While he was line coach on the Heidelberg eleven, the team won an Ohio Conference crown and was runner-up another year. Gunlock also was head baseball coach at Heidelberg.

HYMAN TO FLORIDA

Dr. Melvin Hyman, assistant professor of speech and director of the Bowling Green State University Speech and Hearing Clinic, has received a summer post-graduate scholarship for study at the School of Medicine, University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla. His study will include work in organic voice problems.

Once A Chicken House

Ivy Hall, Now A Girl's Dorm, Made Many Transitions In Life

Ivy Hall has been used for everything from a shotgun factory to an underwear plant.

In 1904 when Wood County was in the throes of the oil boom, the Lefevre Arms Company came to Bowling Green and decided to build a plant to manufacture shotguns. At that time the Lefevre shotgun was one of the best made in this part of the country and was much in demand.

But Ivy Hall was not destined to become a famous location for the making of shotguns. Several years after the Lefevre Arms Company left Ivy, Monarch Woolen Works moved into the building.

Underwear was their specialty and the Monarch Woolen Works manufactured undergarments in Bowling Green for 11 years.

Machine Shop

To add to the variety, the Universal Machine Company opened a tool shop in Ivy in 1918. N. C. Waltz, 427 Fairview, managed the tool shop until 1926.

Next, Charles and May Stock, 311 W. Evers St., bought the building and made it into a chicken hatchery. The Stocks operated the hatchery until 1946, when the University bought it and used it for a warehouse for two years.

"Chicken Hatchery"

Perhaps you have wondered why the building is called "Ivy" Hall. When the building was converted into a residence hall in 1948, the words "Chicken Hatchery" were still painted on the walls and the best way to hide this was to plant ivy around the building.

When the building was finally converted that Fall, Theta Chi and Alpha Sigma Phi, then the local, Beta Sigma, occupied the two floors.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton C. Ringer were the first head residents of Ivy Hall.

In 1952 the fraternities moved out and Ivy was made into a girl's dorm. What will be the next change in the long and varied history of the familiar campus building?

Puppeteers Swarm Over Campus For Festival

Approximately 350 puppeteers, their families and puppet "children" turned recreation hall into a maze of make-believe, with nine-foot mannikins from the Detroit Museum of Art to the dragons, dwarfs and animals during their five-day stay here at the 1955 Puppetry Festival.

The daily afternoon and evening shows by some of the most skilled performers in America were viewed by students and area visitors.

A special program for the students enrolled in Mrs. Ruth Toozle's Children's Literature workshop heard Mrs. Fern Zwickey, Detroit teacher and puppeteer, talk Wednesday afternoon on "Puppetry in the Classroom."

A puppet workshop Saturday brought other teachers, children's workers, Girl Scout sponsors, and others interested in puppetry to the campus.

The convention closed Saturday night with the appearance of Kukla, Fran, and Ollie, widely-known television stars in a show provided by Burr Tillstrom and his Kukla-politan Players.

The visitors were from all parts of the United States, and several Canadian points. They were housed in Shatzel Hall and other University dormitories, and served at the Commons.

The displays and puppets ranged from the ultra-modern space men to the age-old Punch and Judy act of many years ago.

"Learning the ropes" as Rod Young, Richmond, Va., Puppeteer, manipulates two of his marionettes. Dean Kenneth H. McFall, college of liberal arts, watches his technique. "The Parade of Progress" is a giant exhibition of General Motors products, including the dream cars which tours the principal cities of America and Canada throughout the year, and in every city, thousands of spectators visit the show. Wheelden joined the show in Florida, and spent the spring months in that state, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois and Indiana; in such cities as St. Louis, Memphis, Corpus Christi, San Antonio, and Peoria.

The three specialized in public relations for their journalism degree. Newman will be granted a leave of absence from the tour in September to complete his last semester's work, and will rejoin the "Parade" after he receives his degree. They will be at London, Ont., next week.
